

III BRAZILIAN CONGRESS IN NUTRITION AND CANCER,
INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE OF NUTRITIONAL ONCOLOGY
AND GANEPÃO 2008

CENTRO FECOMERCIO DE EVENTOS – SAO PAULO - BRAZIL
18 to 21st of June 2008

Update: December 6th, 2007

An internationally renowned clinical nutrition research center, Brazil will receive outstanding specialists from Europe, USA, and Latin America in June of 2008. More than two hundred International and Brazilian exponents in medicine, clinical nutrition, molecular biology and public health will be present at Ganepão 2008. They will exchange their expertise and experience at the III Brazilian Congress of Nutrition and Cancer (CBNC) and, for the first time, at the International Conference of Nutritional Oncology (ICNO).

ICNO will be sponsored by the US National Cancer Institute (NCI), American Institute of Cancer Research (AICR) and the Department of Radiation Oncology of Montefiore Medical Center, Albert Einstein School of Medicine, New York, worldwide recognized institutions for high levels of quality in research and cancer treatment in USA.

The leading theme of the cancer congress will be "Cancer, Inflammation and Cachexia: from Theory to Practice". An extensive scientific program will cover diet, nutrition and cancer prevention, nutritional therapy of the cancer patient and also nutritional and metabolic approach in cancer cachexia.

A multidisciplinary and holistic approach will be presented, integrating several different subjects in clinical and surgical oncology, chemotherapy and radiotherapy along with clinical nutrition, epidemiology, and molecular biology.

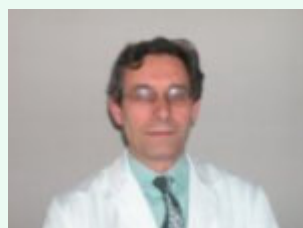

The Scientific Committee is currently inviting the submission of scientific posters to be presented and discussed at the conference.

Join us in Sao Paulo, Brazil for the most comprehensive conference in Nutrition and Cancer.
